

A NOTE FROM SARAH

What began as a simple idea to bring our clients more tangible value, beauty, education and something unique during their appointments has evolved into a permanent fixture of the permanent experience. I'm constantly pushing the envelope on natural effective haircare, organic transformations, sourcing the most pure and scientifically proven hair products to experience truly beautiful, healthy hair conditions for our clients, which not only encompasses brand evolution but also personal growth.

I recently spent time at Debbie Travis' Tuscan Girls Getaway at Villa Reniella with 12 women from all over the world, all brought together by a shared desire to reflect, connect and re-center. With no agenda we divulged our fears and passions with pure revolutionize and raw truth, an openness I've never experienced. Hearing these vulnerable stories, along with the ones I hear in salon inspire me to foster a community that creates connection, nurtures women and wellness, yet above all, empowers - this vision is my reality that I am beyond grateful for.

Welcome to our third edition of "The Cut", dedicated to the women that inspire me - Leah Patara, Melinda Mulvogue, Natalie Warner, Sarah Holloway and you - the Organika woman.
